

THE NATIONAL MUSEUM
& HMS VICTORY

The Anglo-German Naval Arms Race and the First World War at Sea

16, 17, & 18 July 2014
REGISTRATION NOW OPEN

Keynote speakers:
Professor Nicholas Rodger
Professor Norman Friedman
Rear Admiral James Goldrick

This conference will explore the Anglo-German naval arms race during the early twentieth century and the Great War at sea before the Battle of Jutland. The conference fee include all light refreshments, lunches, dinner on board HMS Victory and a wine reception within the Museum's new 20th Century gallery and the 'Racing to War' special exhibition. Conference speakers will cover:

- The arms race and popular culture
- Imperial defence
- Use of intelligence
- Naval operations, strategy, and tactics
- Economic warfare in war and peace
- Naval leadership, education, command and control
- Technological and ship design developments
- The arms race from British, German and South American perspectives

Delegate fee:

Full fee	£150
Early bird (early registration closes 1 May 2014)	£100
Society of Nautical Research and Armed Forces	£100
Student	£75

To register visit our online shop: <https://support.nmrn.org.uk/the-anglo-german-naval-arms-race-and-the-first-world-war-at-sea>

Or email Research@NMRN.org.uk for a registration form